Dedication

to

Ronald Scharfe

for being a dedicated prof.

who enjoys teaching about the One whom he loves most;

sharing your knowledge of God's Word with us;

making us research

all those questions and type them!

being a devoted husband

to Evangeline;

being a devoted father

to Roslyn and Jocelyn;

having a caring spirit

when we are in need.

We dedicate the 1986 Vine to you

Growth takes place in many ways. Summer missions is an excellent way to learn patience, trust, sacrifice and responsibility; in all these areas spiritual growth blooms and becomes alive. Another place of growth taking place on campus is within the four walls of Bethel Bookstore. Expansion to better serve the college and the community has taken place when the Bookstore moved to a larger store on South Wayne.

1—Patty Owens, Dawn Kale and Lisa Guegold dramatize their mission to Brazil as "soldiers of the Light". 2—Dorothy and Mary Carolyn pack up the old Bethel Bookstore in Witmer's basement. 3—Carol Demond greets Pastor Klinepeter of First Missionary Church at the grand opening of the new Bethel Bookstore located at 4001 South Wayne.

in Grace . . .

We all learn to have grace through friendships and through helping one another during the fun times as well as the tough times. When Bill Davis left for Jamaica, it was an exciting and thrilling new adventure for him and his friends were there to see him off. When Lexington dorm "sprung a leak", every girl pitched in to help clean up the rushing waters. FWBC builds lasting friendships which prove over and over that grace is an important part of our daily lives.

4—Friends give Bill Davis a going away party. 5—Where are the sandbags to stop this wild rushing torrent? 6—Betty Rychener, Lisa Frauhiger and Kelli Armstrong wonder, we've been roommates for how long?

and Knowledge of our

Not only do our students strive for a goal of greater knowledge, but so do our faculty. This year three professors have earned the title of Doctor. We give our congratulations to Dr. Doug Barcalow, Dr. Stan Nussbaum, and Dr. Kent Young. Their diligence will enhance our learning and strengthen the admonition from Scripture, to study to show thyself approved . . . We at FWBC throughout this "year of growth" have worked hard to pursue, with diligence, the calling each of us has been given by God. And yes, we have grown!

STUDY to show thyself approved, a workman unto God . . .

II Timothy 2:15

Lord and Savior Jesus Christ

Service to Christ is an all important aspect of our daily lives at FWBC. Bill Ritter seeks to serve Christ through the presentation of His Word. Preparation for service through the reading and meditation of Scriptures helps one to pattern his life after Christ. Another way to serve Christ is through sacrifice for the good of others. Ken Sistrunk and David Williams present a plan to the student body to "Save the Women's Resident Director" position. This plan gave us the option of service through sacrifice. The plan was a success and through this we have all grown in Christ and His Love.

But grow in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ

WBCL Sharathon—A Vision

1—Char Binkley, WBCL Station Manager, stands by the "thermometer" that climbed over the top! 2—That's not giant dandruff on Dr. Bostrom's shoulders—that's victory confetti. 3—In the mailing area, Jay Lininger takes his turn supervising some of the 300 volunteers. (The bricks were placed on the table only for the picture to remember the "bricks" listeners "bought" to build the new WBCL facility.).

Of Growth Coming True!

a happy tenth anniversary!
microphones and phones coordinators and computers 300 versatile volunteers and visitors, wide-eyed, seeing the people and the place—

people whose voices they know, people they thank God for and the place—

such a tiny place, smaller than they imagined—so small to have given such blessing 24 hours a day

praise! praise! praise!
five days of faith sharing operating budget goal met third day
new station goal met fifth day!

it's like a miracle!
nearly a million in pledges
by 6000 listeners

children came with penny banks a long stream of generous people saying thanks

a link to the future
to God be the glory!

4—Jeff Carlson, Operations Manager, celebrates another baaaa-lessing, a goal reached. 5—Cheri Carlson records the penny bank savings given by fans of kids-Kaleidoscope. 6—Marsha Bunker, Assistant to the Manager, concentrates on communicating the timing for the long looked for moment when the goal is reached and the confetti flies and there are shouts and songs of praise.

Station of the Year!

Teamwork! That's how you get a national award. The 1986 AWARD OF MERIT IN STATION OPERATION was presented to WBCL at the National Religious Broadcasters 43rd Annual Convention in Washington, D.C. in February. Char Binkley, WBCL's General Manager accepted the award to the station at a Religious Broadcasters' luncheon in the nation's capital.

Of the 1,100 organizations belonging to this national association, WBCL was one of the four that received a Merit award. The criteria for the award is based on "station advancement of quality programming, use of new technological developments to communicate the Gospel, and exemplary demonstration of the NRB Code of Ethics."

1—Marsha Bunker, Management Assistant; Diane Cochran, Management Secretary; Jeff Carlson, Operations Manager; Jay Lininger, Host of NITELITE; Char Binkley, General Manager; Bill Viar, News Announcer; Ellen Hanson, Office Manager; Mike Badgerow, Coordinator of College Programming; Deb Gerig, Staff Writer; Bev Wagner, Utility Person. 2—WBCL staff is honored at a party celebrating the national award. 3—Char was surprised as she stepped in the door of W-100 where staff and faculty had gathered.

ACADEMICS

BIBLICAL DIVISION

"The Biblical Studies Division is one of three divisions in the curricular structure at FWBC. Its aim is to contribute to the foundational preparation of "servant leaders" who are (1) knowledgeable in Biblical background and content and in theology; (2) skilled in their interpretation of Biblical truth and its application to life; and (3) committed to a lifelong study of the Bible and a dissemination of its contents.

"All three divisions are interrelated. The Biblical Studies Division helps students in the understanding of truth found in general revelation, that is, that revelation existing in nature and persons and forming the content of the General Studies Division. In reciprocal fashion, the content of general studies enables students of the Bible to understand Biblical content related to the natural and social sciences and to the liberal arts. Furthermore, the ability to think critically developed by the General Studies Division is an aid to Biblical interpretation and application. Professional studies provide the skills for disseminating the information gained from Biblical and general studies to the world and for relevant serving in contemporary society."

1—Dr. Wes Gerig, division Chairman. 2—Professor Arlan Birkey shows the class the journeys of Paul.
3—Professor Ron Scharfe grades projects.

BIBLICAL DIVISION

4—Jeff Spence, Phil Reynolds, and Bob Sugiura prepare assignments. 5—Professor Roger Ringenberg gives thoughtful consideration to a question. 6—Dottie Greenley studies for her theology assignment.

GENERAL STUDIES DIVISION

"General studies consists of requirements and electives drawn from the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. The division provides neither specialized nor vocational instruction. Its purposes are to explore, integrate, and apply truth as found within its disciplines, and to function with the other two divisions, assisting the student to formulate a Christian worldview and a unified concept of truth, and to equip the student to function critically and constructively as a servant-leader in the contemporary world.

"The content of the General Studies Division consists of the knowledge, skills, attitudes and values which enable an individual to see from a distinctive Christian perspective those areas of life common to all human beings. All baccalaureate degree programs include at least forty-two hours of general education courses."

1—Dr. Alice Joy Weddle, division chairman. 2—An Intro to Art field trip to Chicago. 3—Professor Sonja Strahm grades English papers. 4—Professor Jim Saddington takes us back in history.

GENERAL STUDIES DIVISION

5—Coach Steve Morley. 6—Joyce Klay, Laurie Bailey and Sue Boklaga test soil samples from Fogwell Forest. 7—"Hello, world out there," say Professor Eunice Conrad's Contemporary Literature class. 8—Coach Deb Rupp chairs the National Tournament in Toccoa Falls, Georgia. 9—Professor Jon Swanson demonstrates the use of gestures in speaking to Brian Powers. 10—Dr. Fred Van Dyke is interrupted during his study time.

PROFESSIONAL DIVISION

"The aim of the Professional Studies Division is to provide degree programs which build on the calling, talents, and gifts of the student in preparing that person for vocational ministry in and through the Church. The vocations embraced by this division are multifaceted and may involve service in congregations, mission agencies, educational institutions, or other ministry organizations. The intent of the division is to develop leaders who possess professional skills and spiritual maturity which strengthen the local body of believers and to enable the leaders to function competently in their chosen vocations."

All baccalaureate degree-seeking students select a major from the Professional Studies Division programs: Christian Counseling; Christian Education (Director of Christian Education, Children's Ministries, Youth Ministries, Adult Ministries, Camping); Christian Ministries Management; Music (Church Music, Music Education, Performance, Composition); Pastoral Ministries; Teacher Education; or World Mission.

1—Dr. Jay Platte, chairman of the Division of Professional Studies and program chairman for the major in Music. 2—Dr. Stan Nussbaum, program director for the major in World Mission, discusses an assignment with Becky Cate. 3—Dr. Sterling Demond, program director for the major in Christian Education sorts one of his CE files.

PROFESSIONAL DIVISION

4—Dr. Ted Nickel, program director for the major in Elementary Education, interrupts his work for a greeting. 5—Dawn Kale, an Elementary Education major, tutors a student in reading. 6—Students being creative in Elementary School Arts and Crafts. 7—Professor David Biberstein, program director for the major in Pastoral Ministries, fields questions after class. 8—Professor Merv Nicholls, program director for the major in Christian Ministries Management, shares a laugh with Mark Burritt during an informal party.

CHAPELS

The day pastoral ministries students speak is always a good day to be in chapel. The sermons are filled with examples from a student's perspective and speak to the problems of the here and now. For example, Kent Fahl in his sermon on Caleb asked us if we were facing our classes bravely and reminded us not to let our school work take control of us. "Tackle your walled cities and tear them down because God is with you." Others that spoke this year are Truman Livengood, Angie Binkley, Al Peck, Phil Reynolds, Brian Allison, Bill Ritter, and David Schenker.

"Never was I told when I became a Christian that I would have to give up unrighteous garments for battle fatigues."—Truman Livengood

1—Truman Livengood. 2—Angie Binkley.
3—David Schenker. 4—Brian Allison

"They will be converted when they see the relationship not the religionship . . . when you experience the gifts of the Spirit, others should experience the fruit of the Spirit from you."—Bill Ritter

5—Andy Pauquette. 6—Terrence Sordelet. 7—Eric Vincent.
8—Marlene Everson. 9—Steve Galloway and Kelly Anthony.
10—Mike Badgerow, Alan Eicher, Mark Brinkman, and Ramon DeMond.

CHAPELS

Every chapel there is good music. Sometimes the great organ music is hardly heard as we come in and talk to one another. But after the call to worship there is usually a hymn with words and melody that stick in our mind long after chapel is over, such as "Great Is Thy Faithfulness" or "Wonderful Grace of Jesus." The special music is often a heartfelt testimony or a song of praise. Sometimes the song is not sung with a tape but is an original composition.

CHAPELS

Three Contemporary Issues Series were held this year. Remember the one on world hunger? Stan Nussbaum helped us realize what good food we have in comparison to what much of the rest of the world eats. Many of us stood up to signify that we would no longer complain in the cafeteria. And there was a panel with Cleve Lawrence, Eric Hostetler, and Stuart Zurcher sharing what they had seen of poverty in their part of the world. After that series a few people ate plain grain meals on Fridays.

And remember the series on abortion? Deb Burkholder did a very sensitive role play with Joyce MacDougall, who is Director of Crisis Pregnancy Center. And remember there was a candle extinguishing ceremony to dramatize the enormous number of lives of the unborn snuffed out for flimsy reasons. The pictures on this page should help us remember the series on the cults chaired by Roger Ringenberg with Dana Collins, Linda VanDyke, Tom Foster, and Mic Clinger on the panel.

1—Dana Collins reasons with two Mormons who have come to his door, portrayed by Rob Yoder and Steve Galloway. 2—Tom Foster points out problems found in the doctrines of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

CHAPELS

Many special speakers have added to our spiritual growth this year. Among them, of course, have been our own professors. For example, David Biberstein gave us a new appreciation for the parable of the prodigal son in his series during a Spiritual Emphasis morning. And in one chapel Sterling DeMond challenged us with a sermon entitled "The Assent of Moses." The speakers from far away places have been great too. During missions week in the first semester there was Don Richardson, missionary author, whose book THE PEACE CHILD helped us recognize that God has prepared people to receive the gospel and that sometimes we over estimate the difficulties of preaching the gospel in another culture. Then there was Bill Leslie from LaSalle Street Baptist Church who was the Staley Lecturer. He shared very personally and honestly concerning his work with the people of the inner city and concerning his own journey into wholeness. Another missions speaker was Greg Livingstone of Frontiers, who was the plenary speaker for this year's Outreach Conference. "It's the Muslims turn now to hear the gospel," he said.

EED 490, STUDENT TEACHING

The capstone of the 145 semester hours for the B.S. degree with a major in Elementary Education is the actual experience of being a teacher for an eight-week period under the supervision of a master teacher. This year nine senior students in El Ed were placed in six Fort Wayne public schools and in the Fort Wayne Christian School. The students completing this long-anticipated internship are Laurie Bailey, Karen Campbell, Pam Cook, Judy Cuckler, Ruth Ferrier, Greg Rahrer, Diane Ridley, Janna Schlatter, and David Spence.

1—Pam Cook at Fort Wayne Christian. 2—Diane Ridley at Maplewood Elementary. 3—Janna Schlatter at Fairfield Elementary. 4—David Spence at Franke Park Elementary.

MUA 490, MAJOR RECITALS

Five voice recitals are part of the requirement for a major in music were given this year:

JULIANNE LARNARD, alto
Junior Recital, Nov. 26

MARK D. PYLES, bass
Senior Recital, Mar. 2

RUSSELL IIDA, baritone
Junior Recital, Mar. 18

DANN ZEHR, baritone
Junior Recital, Mar. 18

TERRENCE SORDELET, tenor
Senior Recital, Mar. 23

Dan Zehr and Russell Iida in a joint recital.

CONCERT BAND

1—Intense concentration by members of the band during Pops-n-Pizza. 2—Jay Heare and one of the guest instrumentalists during Pops-n-Pizza. 3—Eric Vincent hammers out his part. 4—The Brass Ensemble, directed by Tom Lichtenberger, blessed us during chapel.

The Fort Wayne Bible College Concert Band was a valuable part of the BC Community. Directed by Dana Collins, the band participated in the Christmas and Spring Festivals, chapels, and had their own annual Pops-n-Pizza. Pops-n-Pizza was given on two nights this year and consisted of popular music by the band and pizza catered by Domino's for all to enjoy. The Brass Ensemble accompanied the Chorale at several area churches and had their own chapel. Student Director of the Band was Kevin March, and Student Director of the Brass Ensemble was Tom Lichtenberger.

CONCERT BAND

5—Dana Collins, band director, keeps the band under control and on the move. 6—Cathy Diller and Terry Michael let their french horns sound. 7—Three trumpeters; Kevin March, Alan Eicher, and John Dovel. 8—Dave Rentz prepares to clash the cymbals. 9—Dana directs the band during an evening practice.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE

1—Joy Gerig, Director of Christian Service and President of ACSP. 2—Dick Baxter duplicates some tapes of the last ACSP conference. Dick serves as Secretary/Treasurer of ACSP and editor of the quarterly newsletter.

Christian Service Directors for many years learned the hard way—by themselves. Now thanks to the encouragement of AABC and the vision of Joy Gerig and others there is a professional organization called the Association of Christian Service Personnel (ACSP), which meets every two years to share and encourage one another in promoting quality Christian service programs.

The organization now is in its fifth year, having met three times, and has a membership of 74, representing 51 colleges. The membership is drawn from the Christian service personnel of schools accredited by AABC (full membership) and from C.S. personnel of other schools of higher education (associate membership).

FWBC is pleased that this important organization originated at Fort Wayne Bible College. The Ad Hoc Committee met here in 1980 and the first ACSP conference in 1981, during which the constitution was signed in Witmer Hall. This was especially fitting because Dr. Safara Witmer, in honor of whom the building was named, was the founder of AABC itself.

During the third conference, held last fall, Miss Gerig was named President of ACSP.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE

3—Sue Larson and Dwayne Beggs with their Christian Service young people's group who have just presented an Easter program with their puppets called "His Fleece Was White as Snow." 4—The C.S. staff: Dick Baxter, Joy Gerig, Lorraine Meek, and Beverly Free. 5—Dave De Selm is one of the fifteen who teach the coaching classes three times each semester for the Christian Service projects.

HIS COMPANY

1—A sorrowful Joash wishes he had not passed on the gossip that caused harm to his family. 2—The slave, Enoch, now born-anew sacrifices himself for Abigale's freedom.

HIS Company, the Christian Service drama troupe under the direction of Miss Sonja Strahm, presented a new play the second semester entitled "In Spite Of." The plot, with its theme coming from the book of James, focuses on the tragedy that can occur when the tongue is not controlled by God's spirit.

Also in their repertoire is a series of vocal solos and dramalogues entitled "Master Meeting." The five members of the troupe portrayed Nicodemus, the woman of ill-repute, Peter, Mary (Martha's sister), Thomas, and the mother of James and John in life-changing meetings with the Master.

3—Perdita's artful advances are rejected by a loyal and stubborn Nadab. 4—Members of the troupe: Al Peck, Joyce Klay, Patty Owens, Marc Siler, and Eric Vincent.

The ten-week summer ministry of COMMON BOND in church camps, youth conventions, church services, and prisons was intense with 90 performances in 68 places through the Midwest and into Ontario. One highlight of the summer was being invited to participate in the 1985 General Conference of the Missionary Church in Toronto and the Central District's Missionary Youth Convention. Another highlight was a performance at the Christian Brotherhood Meeting of inmates at the Indiana Reformatory.

The motto of COMMON BOND, "all for one and one for all," is from Romans 15: "May the God who gives endurance and encouragement give you a spirit of unity among yourselves as you follow Christ Jesus, so that with one heart and mouth you may glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ."

5—(sitting) Kent Fahl, Ted Wilson (standing) Scott Schindler, Dann Zehr, Steve Snyder, and Russ Iida. 6—The quartet in a chapel performance in September, its final one. 7—Ted Wilson, student director, is definitely in charge of that saxophone. 8—Scott Schindler, accompanist, joins the quartet while member number six, Steve Snyder, the sound technician, labors behind the scenes.

The 1985 soccer season was once again filled with excitement. The team completed the season with a record of 12 wins and 6 losses. NCCAA Midwest Regional Championship, and fourth place finish in the NCCAA National Finals. Other highlights of the season included individual accomplishments such as five players being named to the All Midwest Region Team: Joe Butora, Steve Stuart, Stuart Zurcher, Graham West, and Jeff Caudill. Graham West, who set national scoring records with a career goal of 120 goals and 40 assists was named to the first team All American, as well as goalie, Jeff Caudill, who had an outstanding National Tournament. Both of these players were also named to the All Tournament Team in the National Finals. Stuart Zurcher and Steve Stuart were named as a second team All American. We give glory to God for all that has been accomplished. D. Williams

"With a final record of 2-18, it seems difficult to define success. We realized we would be battling the odds when we began due to small numbers, little or no experience, and being a young team. These young ladies willingly worked hard, and several times were on the verge of what the world would term success when they came so close to defeating the opposition. Our record will never show those close matches, and therefore, "success" will not be in the books. Yet, this year's team was successful. John Wooden says "success is peace of mind which is a direct result of self-satisfaction in knowing you did your best to become the best that you are capable of becoming." We are becoming; that was this year's success!" D. Rupp

"You have faced some very difficult situations this year, and I know it has not been easy. However, I truly believe that you have shown a lot of CLASS, no matter what the circumstances were. You have shown DETERMINATION, FIGHT, PERSEVERANCE through it all. I want you to know how much I respect all of you. I trust that we all have learned some valuable lessons this year, and that we all will be better men, and more CHRISTLIKE as a result of what we have gone through this year. ACTIVITIES

Labor Day . . .

Labor Day weekend always brings the BC family together. On Saturday evening was Cafe de Backyard, sponsored by Student Government. This brought new students and returning students together for fellowship and special music. On Labor Day, a day off work and classes, the family was united on South Campus for games and the All-School Picnic. Faculty, staff and students were involved in volleyball, softball, soccer and food! The family was able to enjoy being together in a casual environment rather than a stuffy classroom or office. After the sun had set, some of the family gathered for a praise rally; giving thanks to God for a productive summer and for being at Fort Wayne Bible College.

1—"So now what do we do?" asks Darwin.
2—"Can I have a bite?" asks Alex Platte of his dad. 3—The BC family sharing together.

Career Day

Choices, choices, choices, our lives are filled with choices! But on FWBC Career Day preparing to make those choices gets a little easier. Twelve mission agencies were on hand to answer questions and make their literature available. Dr. Garry Collins of Trinity Evangelical Divinity Seminary and Bob Bland, President of Teen Missions, International, were the special speakers for the day.

"The Miracle Worker" was indeed a miracle production. Throughout the summer the cast studied lines and characterizations to be prepared for the performances which took place during Fall Campus Days on Oct. 24, 25, and 26. Students, faculty and parents attended the play which depicted the lives of Helen Keller and Annie Sullivan. The miracle worker, Annie Sullivan, is a young lady who does her best to teach a youngster who has been deemed unteachable. The "miracle" takes place when Helen, who is blind and deaf, speaks for the first time in six years.

Special commendations should go to the director, Sonja Strahm, and to the assistants, Laura Sailor, Jennie Bishop, and Dixie Redding; also to the stage crew, Jon Swanson, Bruce Cluckie, Dan Callahan, John Dovel, Sharon Gerig, Dave Spyker, Mike Badgerow, and Tom Blackford.

5—Part of our "miracle working" stage crew. Thanks for your hard work, Jon, Sharon, Tom, and all others! 6—Barb Scott portrays a frustrated mother hoping for a miracle. 7—A touching moment between Annie and Helen. 8—Viney and Percy curiously watch every move. 9—"Well, if you want MY opinion," snorts Aunt Ev.

"The Miracle Worker"

1—Thanks, "Doc." 2—What is it, Helen? 3—James, your attitude is showing again. 4—Welcome, Miss Sullivan! 5—Annie isn't sure what Helen will do. 6—The blind girls give Annie a gift for Helen.

7—Annie and Helen battle it out at the dinner table. 8—Helen tries to teach the puppy to spell. 9—Helen immitates Annie as big brother James watches. 10—The "miracle" moment! Helen says "water" while an excited teacher stares in awe. 11—A family reunited.

Schultz and Lexington

Open Dorms at FWBC play an important and necessary part in campus social interaction. Besides forcing students to clean their rooms, open dorms allow students to display creativity in their room designs. Dorm councils seek to entertain the campus with a variety of exciting activities ranging from a golf tournament in Schultz to a belching contest in Lexington.

The Hot Spots

1—Dann, Kim and company enjoy Faygo Red Pop with a hot game of euchre. 2—Silence falls across the "stadium" as Matt Barcalow steps up to putt. 3—Even Ronald Reagan enjoys open dorms. 4—"Hey little girl, get off my foot!" says Bryan Heindel. 5—Darwin Duntun dips low for the limbo contest. 6—Gail and Laura cruise the halls at another "hot" open dorm. 7—Melody Blevins can sure move her hips. 8—Joe Butora dives with incredible form in the Schultz belly-flopping contest. 9—Pam Avore, Judy Moyer, and Jeni Watson munch on the delicious food at an open dorm. 10—Tom Schakat wonders where the marshmallows are.

Student Government Presents

Student Government strove to bring excitement and to aid in releasing tension to an otherwise overworked student body. Beginning with the Labor Day weekend festivities, Student Government ushered in the new students and welcomed back the returning ones. Rollerskating, always a favorite, offered students a break from studies by allowing many to stretch seldom used muscles, and others to bring out the extra pillow they had been saving for guests. The addition of Sunday Nite Live brought out of hiding many talented students, providing both worship and entertainment for the student body. The Star Wars saga allowed minds to drift from studies and pressure into a world of fantasy and adventure. "Star Wars" led the saga, followed by "The Empire Strikes Back" and then "Return of the Jedi" ended Luke Skywalker's adventures and also that of the student body's adventures, at least for a time. "A long, long time ago in a galaxy far away

"Reflections" of 1986

1—I hate it when he . . . (card please). 2—If only someone would ask me to skate. 3—Rich says "Heelp!!" 4—Jeni Watson relaxes at the all-school picnic. 5—Twas the night before finals and all through the dorm, pain and panic awaited the professor's scorn. 6—Lori and Mark get first pick of the candy at Cafe de Backyard. 7—Hey kid, do you want to sell some pencils . . . duh, pencils, yea! 8—J.T. throws one of his famous curve fast balls. 9—World Class Open Volleyball game on Labor Day. 10—Brian prays for mercy as Barb hides her face in embarrassment. 11—Brad gets attacked by pigeons again.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT PRESENTS:

1—Scott and Jeff sing another Don Ho Gospel hit. 2—Hi Mom! See what I "learnt" at college. 3—These three lovely bag ladies are looking for dates for Friday night. 4—Shelly Murphy, in rare form, glides effortlessly across the floor. 5—Steve Galloway defends America against a communist attack.

Student Missionary Fellowship

Student Missionary Fellowship brought to our minds the many needs around the world, through a variety of projects. The Walk for Hidden Peoples raised money for the spreading of the gospel. The Plain Grain raised money to feed the hungry who are overseas. The "double Christmas" sent clothing all over the world. SMF reminded us that even though we may not become overseas missionaries, we have the responsibility to give our support.

helps meet needs around the world

1—Joanne Kingsbury, Loretta Miller, and Joyce Bell flash beautiful smiles as they support "Walk for Life". 2—Al Peck shares an encouraging story of how his jacket went to a needy boy. 3—Greg Hubbard and Scot Wilson march on. 4—SMF demonstrated its world vision in the Walk for the Hidden Peoples. 5—A farewell party for Dr. Stan and family shows how the students appreciated his dynamic perspective on missions. 6—One of the plain grain meals. Students sacrificed a regular lunch to eat a bowl of grain and water. 7—Summer missionaries going to the four corners of the world. 8—Jeff Eagen interviews Cleve Lawrence, JTS Exchange Student, and Lyn Schwartz, next year's exchange student to JTS. 9—Volunteers on the First Annual Hunger Strike to raise money to stamp out hunger.

Junior / Senior

1—Several couples waiting to enter the banquet room at the Hilton. 2—Verna says, "Take my picture! I'm not shy like Mike is." 3—Judy Moyer and Ed Irmeger pose for their banquet picture. 4—Bob Yap is intent on the conversation or maybe his date?

Banquet

5—Brad Ball and Dr. Harvey Bostrom are deep in discussion. 6—"Heartsounds" provided the entertainment during the banquet. 7—Laura Skees and Tonya Gillum talk about who the best looking guy is. I wonder who they chose?

A Christmas Festival

The music department, featuring Concert Band, Chorale, Brass Ensemble, Choral Union, and Madrigals, put forth a nostalgic evening which depicted an Old World Christmas, an American Christmas and most importantly, the First Christmas. The music selections ranged from the very familiar "Christmas Bells" to the not-so-familiar and slightly unusual "Good King Kong Looked Out"!?! Another enjoyable part of this program was a Christmas recitation done by Jon Swanson who took us home for Christmas in the American style. All in all, the evening represented Christ and what Christmas is really about.

Let's go to HAWAII!

What do pineapples, beautiful girls, smiling faces, exotic foods and the FWBC Sophomore class have in common? HAWAII! As a fund raiser for the sophomore class, a Hawaiian Luau was enjoyed by those who attended. Hawaiian music and foods were a part of our fantasy trip to the paradise islands. Even though we could not exactly go to Hawaii, it was fun to bring a small part of Hawaii to FWBC!

1—"Come to Hawaii (or at least send us there)!" says Jeni, Melody and Lori. 2—"I'm in love!" says Scott Cunningham. 3—Kelly Lewin thinks Hawaiian flowers are great (even paper ones). 4—Jeff and Rachelle enjoy the food. 5—"They sure are friendly around here." says Jeni. 6— The cook, Bob Yap, prepares a Hawaiian dish.

Saga Presents

1—Melody Blevins, Dixie Redding and Estelle Redding are happy servers. 2—Tonya Gillum tricked by Jim Gippert and Melody "Bugs Bunny" Kindy. 3—Dwayne Beggs and Susan Larson provided balloons. 4—Pattie Teall busily making snow cones. 5—The fearless ringmaster, Ron Coffey.

8th Annual Circus

Popcorn Corn Dogs Pretzels
Cotton Candy Snow Cones
Corn on the Cob Pizza Shakes

6—Mel Zumbrun eating his caramel apple. 7—Bob Yap, Sharon Ayabe, and Verna Sanekane enjoying their corn dogs. 8—Scott Badgerow caught in the pie throwing booth. Looks like he lost. 9—The Mop Brothers, Jeff Lawson and Scott Cunningham, sing for the California girls?

Saga Presents Specials

Saga presents specials! This year, Food Service Director, Sandy Benton, planned a great variety of special meals and foods for our dining pleasure. The All-American Hot Dog Bar, Pasta Bar and Omelet Bar, etc., plus everyone's favorite Ice Cream Sundae Bar every Saturday night, brought a variety to the normal menu. Special gatherings of the BC family were seen by candlelight at the Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, and at the Easter Breakfast Buffet. The German Dinner gave us an awareness of another variety of foods. Thanks for all your hard work Sandy and crew!

1—At the Christmas dinner, Sandy had help serving bread from Mike Zawahri, Kim, Stanley and Angie Riedhart. 2—Steve Galloway enjoys his meal. 3—Thanksgiving turkey carvers were Lee Underwood and Mark Scheidt. 4—Dr. and Mrs. Nickel enjoy the Thanksgiving dinner. 5—Saga Cooks: Cindy Sordelet, Sam Zawahri, Irene Cox, Becky Crawfis. Food Service Director: Sandy Benton.

GREG SPECK is originally from California and is a graduate of Bethel College in Minnesota. His youth ministry spans four years as a camp director, and five years as assistant pastor in Rockford, Illinois. Presently in Rockford, Greg is founder and president of Youth Ministries International. He brought a dynamic approach to the youth whom he loves sincerely.

Be ANCHORED IN CHRIST . . .

"Then you will no longer be infants, tossed back and forth by the waves, and blown here and there by every wind of teaching . . ."

Eph. 4:14

Battle Stations! Battle Stations! Climb aboard and take your position to be "Anchored in Christ" to fight the rough weather in your life . . . This year, Youth Conference with Greg Speck, taught us how to swab the decks (clean up our lives) and how to weigh anchor (get rid of the garbage). The conferees and sponsors participated in a weekend filled with mind stretching sermons, fun outdoor activities, food, good fellowship and of course an evening of hilarity with Comicality (Castaways). The FWBC student body shared, along with Greg, their personal witness for Jesus Christ with those who attended.

6—Greg Speck speaks from his heart. 7—Greg interacts with some of the conferees during the picnic. 8—Scott sings "Teddy and I just want to sing and dance!"

ANCHORED

YC THEME SONG

I'm anchored to the rock
of my salvation;
Standing firm while Satan's tempests blow. I'm safe upon the solid rock of Jesus; I know He will never let me go.
Because I'm Anchored
(anchored),
Anchored (anchored);
Anchored to the rock
that will not let me go.

Words and music by Andy Pauquette.

Meredith Willson's

"The Music Man", a musical comedy concerned with the life of a small Iowa city in 1912, is largely a tenderly altered recollection of things that happened to Meredith Willson in Mason City (which he calls "River City") when he was ten years old. It is the story of a rascally but attractive salesman of musical instruments and band uniforms, shuttling about the Midwest and prevailing on small-town people to outfit school bands on the promise of teaching its members to play. He cannot read a note and invariably leaves town on a freight train after a) collecting his money, and b) breaking a few hearts. In River City, however, he a) collects his money; b) falls truly in love with the local librarian; c) becomes exposed, and d) forgiven by townspeople and librarian alike when it becomes apparent that the city is a happier one, if poorer, for his presence.

1—A train of traveling salesmen discuss their work and Prof. Harold Hill, who doesn't know the territory. 2—Amaryllis and Marian say goodnight to their special someone. 3—Eulalie Mackecknie Shinn's Wah-tah-nee girls. 4—Marian Paroo tells her mother of the man with the suitcase. 5—Amaryllis gets ready to play her crosshand piece. 6—The town discovers "Trouble with a capital T and that rhymes with P and that stands for pool."

THE MUSIC MAN

7—Marcellus and Harold discuss the situation. 8—Harold threatens to drop marbles on the floor of the library, while Marian watches worriedly. 9—Winthrop hopes the Wells Fargo Wagon will bring him somethin' special. 10—The school board discovers they are an inseparable quartet. 11—Ethel Toffeimeier and Alma Hix discuss cheap talk (gossip) with Harold. 12—Harold almost convinces Mayor Shinn to buy an instrument for his son until . . . Mayor Shinn remembers he doesn't have a son. 13—Zaneeta and Gracie Shinn express excitement when the Wagon brought the band instruments.

Meredith Willson's

1—One Grecian urn! 2—The Shipooi. 3—Mayor Shinn forbids Zaneeta to see Tommy again. 4—Members of the school board and their wives rehearse for the social. 5—Marcellus leads the townspeople in Shipooi. 6—Marian tries to detain Charlie Cowell, a traveling salesman who knows that Harold Hill is a fake. 7—Much to Marcellus' dismay, Harold Hill is arrested by the constable. 8—When the band uniforms arrive, a boys' band really does exist. 9—Forgiven, and in love, Harold Hill and Marian Paroo share a tender moment.

FEATURES

HARVEY BOSTROM

In 1980 Dr. Bostrom came to FWBC with a strong sense of vision for the college. A top priority has been the establishing of recognizable academic vitality for the school. This has included achieving regional accreditation and a significant upgrading of the curriculum.

Other priorities have been the establishing of fiscal vitality and updating business procedures. This has included eliminating the college's high interest indebtedness, computerization of the development and business office operations, working to establish a more realistic pay scale for faculty and staff, increasing financial aid for students, and the project of constructing a multi-purpose building to house a gymnasium and facilities for WBCL on the south campus.

Yet another priority has been the developing of the college's Governing Board to the point where they now provide leadership characterized by vision, commitment, and sacrificial involvement.

Dr. Bostrom is optimistic about the future. "As I see it, Fort Wayne Bible College is an exciting, dynamic school. I feel confident that God will abundantly prosper the next phase in the development of this 'vine of God's own planting.' "

1—Dr. and Mrs. Bostrom stand by the portrait which was unveiled the night of the Alumni Banquet. 2—Dr. B. enjoys commencing!

RETIREEES CELEBRATE

3—Dr. Ted Nickel, along with his wife Rose Ann, have served the students at FWBC whole heartedly since coming in 1962. Dr. Nickel has directed the program in Teacher Education and worked diligently with the Indiana State Department of Public Instruction to see that the program here has always been accredited.

3—Dave Spence and Mrs. Thelma Weddle supply one of the before—class surprises during Dr. Nickel's last week. 4—Dr. Nickel greets students at a cake and punch table.

STUDIES IN ECOLOGY

On a weekend in early October, ten members of the biology class explored the area owned by AuSable Institute near Mancelona, Michigan. The Institute is designed to serve the evangelical Christian colleges by offering courses and programs in field ecology, field biology, land resources, water resources and environmental studies. "In a setting of northern lower Michigan's forests, wetlands, lakes, and wild rivers, students may take courses which provide academic content, field experience, and practical tools for stewardship of creational resources." (from Institute catalog) Ed Irmeger is the first BC student to take advantage of a grant given for summer study at AuSable.

Bill Davis—FWBC to JTS

Cleve Lawrence—JTS to FWBC

Every year, for several years, Fort Wayne Bible College exchanges a student, usually in their junior year, with a student from Jamaica Theological Seminary. These students take classes, study, live and become involved in another culture. This year, Bill Davis went to Jamaica in October. Cleve Lawrence came from Jamaica in August and has been involved in soccer, Chorale, and other activities. We have enjoyed having Cleve, and Bill, as a part of the FWBC family.

CURRENT EVENTS

It was the best of times; it was the worst of times. A thousand things brought us grief, awakened us to our true condition and sometimes brought us to our knees.

"Obviously a major malfunction," was an understatement made by a NASA public affairs officer as he saw the rocket had exploded. The explosion in February before the eyes of children and the whole world of the shuttle Challenger brought intense national grief and many questions about the future. The grief was present all spring as each piece of the craft and the human remains of six crewmen and of Christa McAuliffe, were brought up from the sea.

In March we watched as two claimed victory in the Philippine election; and then as Marcos' fabulous wealth (and all Imelda's shoes) became apparent, U.S. support vanished and Cory Aquino became president in a "bloodless" revolution.

In April, after a terrorist bombing in which an American was killed, was traced to Libyan involvement, American planes took off from an airport in England and bombed strategic parts of Tripoli, hoping for an uprising in Libya itself to overthrow Col. Khadafy.

In May world attention was drawn away from the debate over the U.S. attempt to send a stern message to terrorists, when the nuclear reactor in Chernobyl near Kiev overheated and radio active particles were let loose upon the world. Russians themselves seemed to know little about the disaster for days. The free world feared a possible meltdown of the reactor and the consequent contamination of the soil and water of the fertile farmlands of the Russian Ukraine.

Deng Xiaoping, octogenarian ruler of China, named "man of the year" by TIME, has modified the application of Communism, bringing modernization at a rapid pace to China.

The symbolic Statue of Liberty, the "Mother of exiles," underwent a two-year repair job to be ready for her hundredth birthday July 4.

The national economy made news often as Congress debated what to do about the huge national debt. Bankrupt farmers sadly auctioned off their livestock and said goodbye to the family farm.

In the spring oil prices fell drastically and the price of gasoline went well below a dollar a gallon.

Bishop Tutu came for a visit on behalf of a South Africa torn by fear and deep racial animosities.

Thousands died in natural disasters through out the world: an earthquake in Mexico City killed 4000. In Colombia a volcano erupted burying 25,000 in an avalanche of mud and water. In Italy a dam broke killing 200.

Some problems have been constantly in the news: abortion, pornography, and the abduction of children; the concern over acid rain and the disposal of chemical waste; and the constant flow of illegal drugs with a new one called "crack."

Lee Iacocca, chairman of Chrysler has made it to the top and others are paying attention to him, except regarding the Statue of Liberty funding.

"Out of Africa" based on the life of Isak Dinesen, played by Meryl Streep got the Oscars.

The Bears brought glory to Chicago and William "The Refrigerator" Perry brought hope to the overweight.

Halley's comet zoomed around but without getting much press except in the scientific community.

"Miami Vice" picked up 15 Emmy nominations. And Rambo caught the imagination of the gun toting red-blooded American.

The Cosby Show became America's No. 1 TV series

The Reagan-Gorbachev summit in Geneva in Nov. was a top story for several weeks. There was great hope that Gorbachev's pleasant face, new style and his pretty wife might indicate a change in policy. But the smile seems made of iron teeth.

Reagan continued to promote the so-called "Star Wars" defense plan amidst much controversy over budget. In the spring, the debate over aid for the Nicaraguan Contras raged in Congress and was lost in spite of a very aggressive President.

The death of film star Rock Hudson brought attention to the threat of AIDS. Some parents began to fear that their children might get AIDS through casual contact and kept their children out of school if a child with AIDS was allowed to attend. The fight of young Ryan White to go to school was won in court.

Mixed emotions fill my heart at this time. I am relieved that the work, the many hours in the basement of Leightner, the problems, and the deadlines . . . are all behind me. It is finally finished! And yet I am sorry to see it end. Special relationships were formed from the long hours involved. I am grateful for the pleasure of knowing and working with Miss Eunice Conrad, whose dedication inspired me to keep going, and Coach Deb Rupp, whose encouragement and proofing skills were greatly appreciated. A special thank you to Katie Schlorke for putting up with me as editor and as a roommate, and to Ian Yorston for his constant encouragement of "You can do it!" I'd also like to thank Paul Wilkinson and Joanne Kingsbury for their work on layouts, and Fred Henderson, Herff Jones representative, for his willingness to help and his ever-present slogan "Happy Year-booking!" Thanks to the photography classes, and others, for their help in photography. And most importantly, I'd like to thank the Lord for giving me the opportunity to serve as editor, and the strength to complete the task.

In Him,

Nancy S. Ford, editor
